News Writers Deny Truman "Misquoted"

Former President
Disclaims Anzio,
Salerno Statement

NAPLES, May 23 (AP)—Harry S. Truman said today he didn't want to embarrass anybody — but that in fact he never held "squirrel-headed" generalship responsible for the way Allied landings were carried out below Rome in 1943.

He had been quoted as saying the Salerno and Anzio landings were unnecessary "and planned by some squirrel-headed general," also that there were a lot of easier places that could have been chosen for beachheads.

"I would make no comment like that," the former president told reporters.

"I had been listening to the conversation of several people who had been there. I am very sorry about it. But it's an embarrassing situation and I hope you'll clear it up."

"Complete Denial"

Truman's secretary, Eugene Bailey, earlier had reported Truman made "a complete denial" of the quotations attributed to him last night. When reporters asked Truman himself about that, he said:

"I don't want to embarrass anybody, especially people who are with me and reporting on me. I never scold anybody when things don't go straight and I wish you would clear it up."

Fred Zusy, Associated Press reporter who is accompanying the Truman party during its tour of Italy, said Truman had been quoted accurately.

UP Reporter Stands By Story

"My quotes were copied while the President was speaking to me and were precisely as recorded," Zusy said. "Both in my memory and in the notes written down word by word as he spoke the quotes are as reported." A United Press reporter filed a similar story of Truman's comment and stood by it today.

Bailey said Truman had spoken with Michael Chingio of International News Service and that the criticism voiced was Chingio's.

Chingio said:

"I never told the President the Salerno landings were totally unnecessary or had been planned by some squirrel-headed general. I did talk to him about the landing itself. I made the landing with the troops."

"Elijah" Led From Peak

BUENA VISTA, Colo., May 23 (INS)—Elijah, the stranded horse, was led today from his snow-covered corral on a rocky plateau between two high mountain peaks in Colorado.

Albert and William Turner of Buena Vista, the owners of the horse that is really named "Bugs"—because he doesn't like autos or women—hoped to have the animal safe and warm in a home stall by tonight.

They took a rescue party of men armed with shovels to dig a path down the craggy slopes leading from the saddle between 14,414-foot Mt. Harvard and 14,194-foot Mt. Yale southwest of Buena Vista.

Elijah attracted national attention last winter when he was discovered stranded on the plateau, subject to blizzards and below-zero temperatures.

Private pilots dropped hay to the shaggy, half-starved horse at regular intervals through the winter weather.

President To Speak In Texas Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, May 23 (INS)—The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will speak on "important phases on U. S. foreign policy" at Waco, Texas, Friday.

The President will deliver his speech at Baylor University commencement exercises.

The talk will be carried on television and radio networks.

Services' Right To Argue Upheld By Eisenhower

Row Must Stay Within Bounds Of Discipline

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today that the nation's military planners can and must defend to the limit their sometimes conflicting ideas on defense of the United States.

But he also cautioned, in his first personal comment on the recent upsurge of Army-Air Force-Navy rivalry, that once top-level decisions are made he expects all hands will "loyally support" those decisions and refrain from debating them in a way that will "alarm everybody else."

Eisenhower spoke out with fire in his eyes and voice at a news conference in which he also pictured the newly announced unit in Soviet armed forces as a "streamlining" operation—part of changing defense concepts on both sides of the Iron Curtain in the light of new weapons and methods.

Russians Are Puzzle

The President said he frankly isn't sure what the Russians are up to. But he said if it turns out they really are reducing their armed might, and not just re-deploying manpower, that "would be a very warmly accepted step and it would be real progress."

Eisenhower has seldom spoken to correspondents with more fervor than he did today in batting down what he described as the idea that the country's safety can be entrusted to any particular type of weapon alone—whether guided missile, long-range bomber or anything else.

He gave the table in front of him a series of vigorous raps as he declared the whole problem is one of total national strength, right down to good schools and prosperous farms — "a unit, an integrated problem," he called it, "not one of just little bits of pieces all over the world."

Tax Slash Opposed

On other matters, Eisenhower said:

1. Congress should "by no means" cut taxes at this session even though the Treasury now estimates a $1,800,000,000 surplus in the current fiscal year. Those estimates have a way of proving (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Sen. Kefauver Takes Swipes At Stevenson

Tennessee Points
Out Ex-Ill. Governor
Vetoed Pension Bill

TITUSVILLE, Fla., May 23 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver pulled away today some of the veneer of politeness from the Florida presidential primary campaign with double-edged swipes at rival Adlai E. Stevenson.

The Tennessee senator pointedly told Florida voters that in 1951 the former Illinois governor had vetoed a bill to increase old age and blind pensions by 10 per cent.

In addition, he voiced surprise because he said Stevenson had let stand, "without a vigorous denunciation" a "scurrilous, vicious attack" against Kefauver by former Florida Gov. Millard F. Caldwell.

The Tennessee Democrat and the onetime Illinois governor are battling down the stretch for the nod in the presidential preference derby next Tuesday and 28 votes at the Democratic National Convention.

Kefauver and Stevenson are meeting directly for the next-to-last time in the 1956 primary season. They collide finally in California on June 5, with 68 convention votes at stake.

Stevenson Says Voters Worried About Peace

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 23 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson today said the "underlying anxiety" over the status of peace in a world torn with unrest is probably the greatest single concern of the American people in the 1956 presidential campaign.

He said this underlying tension was the thing that showed most in his thousands of personal contact with voters in handshaking tours throughout the nation.

He said "misgivings" about the health of President Eisenhower, "incipient inflation" and expansion of the nation's economy also concerned the rank and file of American voters, but fears for preservation of peace stood out above all else.

15,000 Russian Refugees Hiding In This Country

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Countess Alexandra Tolstoy said today thousands of Soviet refugees are hiding in this country and living in constant fear of being exposed and sent back behind the Iron Curtain.

She estimated that at least 15,000 refugees and escapees now in the United States have assumed false identities to avoid forced repatriation under the Yalta agreement made with the Soviet Union during World War II.

She told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee Soviet authorities have ferreted out the true names of many of the refugees and are mailing them propaganda under those names, urging them to return to Communist jurisdiction.

The Russian-born countess operates the Tolstoy Foundation in New York to assist the resettlement of emigres in this country. She was called as a witness in the subcommittee's investigation of the Soviet defection campaign.

"Hundreds" of the refugees, Countess Tolstoy testified, come to her "for protection." She said her advice to them is to disclose their real identities to U. S. immigration authorities, but most of them are afraid to.

British Soldier Slain In Cyprus Ambush

NICOSIA, Cyprus, May 23 (AP)—A British soldier was killed and two were wounded today in new outbreaks of violence on Cyprus.

The soldier was shot dead in an ambush at Polis, 60 miles west of Nicosia. The two soldiers were wounded in an ambush at Limassol, on the south coast.

In Nicosia, a British soldier chased and caught a man who had just thrown a bomb into his house. The soldier's wife was wounded by the bomb.

A youth was arrested as he tried to plant a bomb near a group of British soldiers in a Nicosia market square. The soldiers were holding a public inquiry into bombings Monday that killed a British soldier. No Cypriots came forward to offer information on the bombings.

Polio Girl Is Perfect Scholar

Barbara McKittrick, who hasn't been in a classroom for six years, gets a final fitting of her cap in preparation for her graduation from high school Friday night. Stricken with polio in 1950, the 18-year-old farm girl has not only kept up with former classmates, but has maintained a straight "A" average throughout her high school years. Bert Gruver (right), of the Assumption (Ill.) High School faculty, has driven the six miles to her home five nights a week for the past four years to give Barbara private lessons. (AP Photofax)

Mendes-France Resigns From Mollet Cabinet

PARIS, May 23 (AP)—Pierre Mendes-France tonight quit Premier Guy Mollet's Cabinet. His resignation climaxed a long-smoldering disagreement over French policy in rebellious Algeria.

The departure of the former Premier, who held the job of minister of state without portfolio, did not threaten the life of the Mollet government.

Mendes-France said he wished Mollet well in carrying out the heavy tasks of his office and urged the 13 other ministers belonging to his Radical Socialist party to stay in the Cabinet. There was no talk of any further resignations.

Force Alone Not Answer

As minister of state, Mendes-France served as a kind of deputy premier. He was acting head of the government last week when Mollet was in Moscow on a state visit.

In his letter of resignation, Mendes-France said force of arms alone cannot master the rebels. He added:

"Any policy which ignores the sentiments and the miseries of the native population leads step by step from the loss of the Algerian people, to the loss of Algeria itself and later, inevitably, to the loss of all our holdings in Africa. That is the policy of abandonment."

Proposals Not Adopted

Mendes-France reminded the Premier that he had listed more than a month ago a series of measures he felt would have a healthy effect in Algeria. But "none of them has been adopted," he said, "and it is with an ever-increasing anxiety" that he had seen fade the opportunities to orient the government toward a more fruitful course.

Reds' Social Security Benefits Reinstated

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The Social Security Administration today reinstated old-age benefits earned by 13 former employees of the Communist party prior to 1952.

The action was based on a decision by Referee Peter J. Hoegen of the administration's Appeals Council.

Actually, Hoegen's ruling applied only to seven appeals which he heard in New York last week but spokesmen said it would affect 13 cases which have developed since last year.

Rose, Joyce Matthews Get Marriage License

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—Broadway showman Billy Rose and actress Joyce Matthews obtained a marriage license today.

Rose, 56, was married previously to the late Fanny Brice and Eleanor Holm. Both marriages ended in divorce.

Miss Matthews, who gave her age as 36, was divorced from Gonzalez Gomez in 1940, and from Milton Berle in 1948 and again in 1950 after a remarriage.

Ike Aide Apologizes For Detroit Remark About Joblessness

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—White House assistant Howard Pyle apologized tonight for saying, in connection with Detroit unemployment, that "the right to suffer is one of the joys of a free economy."

He declared the hardships of unemployment are not pleasant for anybody, and said the administration is actively concerned because the automobile capital has what he termed "a seasonal employment problem."

He said his earlier remarks were made offhand and informally to a group of newsmen.

Pyle is deputy assistant to President Eisenhower on federal-state problems and was formerly governor of Arizona. He issued his statement of apology after Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, protested to Eisenhower about his remarks.

Wire Sent By Reuther

Pyle said in a statement that the circumstances were somewhat different than those set forth by Reuther in a telegram to Eisenhower.

In the telegram, Reuther said Pyle was quoted as saying "smilingly" to a group of Republican women in Detroit Monday:

"The right to suffer is one of the joys of a free economy, just as the right to prosper is. But Michigan will come out of it, just as the farmers are doing now."

The quotation was attributed to Pyle by the Detroit Times yesterday in its account of Pyle's appearance before the Republican group.

Remark Made To Newsmen

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, told newsmen after conferring with Pyle that the presidential aide did not make the remark at the meeting of GOP women, but did make it to newsmen who talked to Pyle in his Detroit hotel room.

In a formal statement tonight, Pyle discussed the Detroit unemployment situation as a serious one, and then added:

"As for my offhand comment on the situation, which I made informally in the company of several press representatives, I apologize to anyone who may have been offended by it."

Murder Trial Of Student Ends In Deadlocked Jury

BALTIMORE, May 23 (AP)—The murder trial of Gregory M. Dellipizzi, 26-year-old University of Maryland medical student charged in the fatal beating of Richard M. Wick in a fight over a night club dancer, resulted tonight in a hung jury.

Several hours after the jury of six men and six women began deliberations, it filed back into Criminal Court. Foreman Gregory V. Frazier announced at 11:20 p.m. it had been unable to reach a verdict.

Prosecutors Joseph G. Koutz and Francis J. Meagher had called for a conviction of second degree murder or manslaughter in the death of Wick, 52-year-old metallurgist from Allentown, Pa.

The defense urged the jurors to acquit Dellipizzi on grounds that he had acted in self defense on the night of the fatal beating last Feb. 16.

Wick died in a hospital two days later of what doctors said were head injuries suffered when he fell to floor of the hotel lobby where he was beaten.

Judge Joseph L. Carter delivered a 50-minute charge to the jury before it retired. When the no-verdict announcement was made, he took immediate steps to schedule an early retrial.

House Gives Compromise 304-59 Vote

Chief Executive Expected To Sign
Revised Measure

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Congress completed action today on the second farm bill of this session, a measure setting up a billion dollars a year soil bank and giving farmers other new benefits.

The House passed the compromise legislation on a 304-59 roll call vote. The Senate approved it yesterday.

Now the bill goes to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature. He is expected to accept it as a substitute for farm legislation he vetoed April 16. The President objected to the first bill mainly because of its provisions for a return to high, rigid crop supports. The new bill does not contain these provisions.

Poage Not Too Happy

Rep. Poage (D-Tex.), floor manager for the compromise legislation, urged it on the House as "not the second best farm bill we have had before us this year" but "probably the third or fourth best, but the only one which seems to have a chance to become law."

Poage accused the Eisenhower administration of "a lack of understanding" of the farm program. Many Democratic agricultural programs were cut out of the bill in an effort to make it acceptable to Eisenhower.

Rep. Heseltun (R-Mass.) opposed the bill because, he said, it neglects "the legitimate interests of important segments of agriculture, particularly in the Northeast, and ignores almost completely the interests of consumers and general taxpayers."

The compromise was hammered out Monday and Tuesday by a Senate-House Conference Committee working from two different versions of the legislation.

Soil Bank This Year

The soil bank program will get under way this year, but not on any substantial scale, since most spring crops have already been planted.

Congress refused Eisenhower's request for authority to advance farmers up to 500 million dollars this year for land they promise to put in the soil bank next year.

The bill provides for supporting oats, rye, barley and sorghums, the small feed grains, at 76 per cent of parity this year without any planting or marketing restrictions.

Corn produced outside the big commercial corn belt would be supported at 82½ per cent of the parity rate for commercial corn. The rate for commercial corn, already fixed by administrative order, is 83.7 per cent of parity.

Road Bill Sent To Senate Floor

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee today voted to send to the Senate floor a multimillion-dollar roadbuilding bill after approving $14,504,000,000 in new highway way taxes.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) said he understood the Senate leadership planned to call up the big measure for floor debate and passage next week.

The committee took one action before reporting the bill which had the effect of adding 80 million dollars of revenue for the 16-year period the highway program is to run.

This was done by knocking out a tax exemption voted by the House for city bus systems. The House had agreed that these systems would not have to pay the increased taxes proposed on fuels or a special weight tax included in the bill for big trucks and other vehicles.

Yesterday the committee softened the impact of the weight levy on big trucks.

The net effect of these two changes was to trim off 310 million dollars of the $14,814,000,000 in new revenue which the House had voted to help finance the program.

Kickbacks Collected To Finance Bribes' Contract Probe Told

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—A former New York business woman testified today that a maker of uniform caps for the Air Force collected kickbacks totaling $27,745 from her and told her he planned to give the money "under the table" to government personnel.

The testimony was given by Miss Jane Mackey of Montclair, N. J., former head of the firm of J. Mackey & Son Inc., of New York City. She said one upshot of the deal was that her firm went bankrupt.

Miss Mackey appeared before the Senate Investigations subcommittee in its search for any crookedness in the handling of military clothing contracts.

She named Sol Schlesinger, owner of the Ideal Uniform Cap Co., in Freeport, N. Y., as the man who, she said, told her in 1951 to advance the $27,745 because "he was short of ready cash to pay under-the-table payments to insure the continuity of the contracts."

Miss Mackey explained that Schlesinger had a contract to furnish the Army Quartermaster Corps with a large number of Air Force caps and she had a sub-contract to supply 700,000 leather visors and chin straps.

Miss Mackey said Schlesinger never specifically told her who got the money he demanded from her.

One of her former employees, John Wilson Roberts, a Briton who now lives in the Bahamas, gave the subcommittee an unsworn statement saying Schlesinger told him $30,000 in kickbacks would be used to pay off Col. Louis H. Shirley, who was a military procurement officer.

Robert F. Kennedy, subcommittee counsel, said Shirley is now stationed at Ft. Lee, Va., and had been invited to attend today's hearing but failed to appear.

2. He thinks Egypt was "mistaken" in recognizing Red China.

3. He doesn't think much, at the moment, of suggestions that he call a Southern governors conference on ways of carrying out school integration. Eisenhower said Atty. Gen. Brownell has invited the governors to drop in individually. And he said a general conference might only "exacerbate" the problem — make it worse.

Sen. Byrd Warns Of Possible New Housing Scandal

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today the Federal Housing Administration may be laying itself open to new scandals. He cited a report that one FHA project was sponsored by a man on the agency's own blacklist.

Byrd made public a letter to President Eisenhower saying reports by the General Accounting Office show "irregularities and inefficiencies" in widespread FHA operations. His letter, dated May 16, did not indicate graft was involved, but he wrote:

"While the four reports are directed to the administration of only a small portion of the vast federal housing programs, as far as they go they clearly show that the elements which breed housing scandals still persist."

Byrd also wrote Administrator Albert M. Cole of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, parent of FHA, asking "confirmation or denial" of the GAO reports. The senator, acting as chairman of the Senate House Committee on Reduction of Non-essential Expenditures, asked for a report on what Cole is doing about the reports.

The GAO reports, Byrd said, cited "irregularities and inefficiencies" in FHA offices in New York City, Kansas City and Cleveland and in 22 slum clearance projects in 15 cities.

Aggravated Auto Driver Fined $115

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 23 (AP)—Robert Louis Wall was just plain mad, that's all. The cops weren't playing fair.

That's the story Wall, a 23-year-old resident of Martinsburg, W. Va., gave Magistrate William Kreykenbohm today when he was arraigned on charges of exceeding 70 m.p.h. and passing on a hill.

State Trooper Vic Guilmino testified he had to chase Wall at speeds up to 85 m.p.h. before he was stopped.

"I just got aggravated because the trooper was traveling in a plain car, not a marked one," Wall explained to the magistrate.

His aggravation cost him $115 in fines and costs.

Man Fatally Slashed At Crab-Meat Plant

CRISFIELD, Md., May 23 (AP)—A 42-year-old man was slashed to death today at a crab-meat packing house where he had gone to ask his wife for money.

Police Officer Roger Hinman identified the slashing victim as John E. Saunders, Crisfield Negro. He suffered a severed jugular vein and died at McCready Memorial Hospital about 20 minutes later.

Mrs. Gussie Saunders, 42-year-old wife of the victim, was arrested a short time after the incident and taken to the jail at Princess Anne, Md.

Edwin Muir, jail warden and Somerset County deputy sheriff, said the wife had been booked for investigation of murder.

Hinman, called to the crab packing house, said he found Saunders bleeding from a throat wound. He said he was told Saunders had been drinking and had demanded money from his wife, who is employed at the plant as a crab picker.

Hinman said Saunders struck his wife during an argument which followed and was slashed with a knife used to remove crab meat from the shell.

Your hands are always on display and an important part of your beauty.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your Hands Show, Too!

Envious? Of the girl with the long, beautiful nails and lovely hands? Maybe you have neglected your hands. Take a look at them. What you see is a complete revelation both to your pride in yourself and the way you feel about grooming.

Too many women think of their hands only as useful servants. Many mature women have beautiful, cared-for faces, but they give away their age with old looking, neglected hands. This is a sad mistake. Hands should share the care given the face — and that means hand-complexion treatments.

We tell our Powers Girls that the only way you can be confident of poise right down to your fingertips is to give your hands superb care. Beautiful hands are an important part of glamor. Don't even take the matter of washing them lightly. Think how many times you have your hands in water — at least eight or ten times daily. They have no choice but dryness, and I'm sure you never hear of anyone with hands that are oily. Think what kind of a complexion you would have if you washed your face with soap and water so many times.

Keep a supply of hand lotion beside every faucet in the house. Apply it lavishly each time your hands have been in water. Avoid as many washings with soap and water as you can. Instead "wash" them with hand lotion. All the good lotions contain cleansing agents as well as restorative oils. Follow with rinsing in cool water . . . pat dry.

Tomorrow — The eyes have it.

Masked Bandit Robs North East, Md., Bank

NORTH EAST, Md., May 23 (P)—A bandit broke into the First National Bank today, waited for someone to arrive to open the vault and then fled with about $9,000 after tying up a teller.

Lawrence D. Wiggins, the teller, said the masked bandit held a shotgun on him as he ordered him to stash the cash in two paper sacks.

He said the bandit, about 40, wore a sheet-like mask.

The FBI, State Police and sheriff's officers began an intensive search. Road blocks were set up. Even a helicopter was used as the hunt spread in the Cecil County area of northeastern Maryland.

The FBI said investigation showed the robber cut a hole in the roof of the building to get into a small attic, then cut another hole to get into the bank proper.

Wiggins told authorities he entered about 8:16 a. m., opened the vault and took out his ledger books, plus about $9,000 in cash.

About 8:35 he looked up and a man was standing before him with a shotgun.

The gunman ordered Wiggins to put the money into the sacks and kept urging him to "hurry up."

The man made no attempt to get money from the vault, taking only what Wiggins had in his cage.

Second 32,000-Ton Tanker Launched

BALTIMORE, May 23 (P)—The second of three new tankers twice as big as its old ones was launched today for Cities Service.

The new ship was christened the Miami by Mrs. Henry L. O'Brien, whose husband is general counsel and a director of the company.

The 32,000 ton ship was built at the Sparrows Point yard of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co. which launched the first one March 8. Construction of the third is under way.

The three new ships will replace seven which Cities Service is turning over to the U. S. Maritime Administration for the reserve fleet.

The new tankers will be capable of each carrying 316,649,340 gallons of petroleum products a year from the refinery at Lake Charles, La. to East Coast ports.

Woman Accused Of "Kidnaping" Granddaughter

WASHINGTON, May 23 (P)—Mrs. Muriel M. Sharpe, a government secretary, today faced charges of taking her 10-year-old granddaughter from the custody of the child's other grandmother in Lynchburg, Va.

Mrs. Sharpe, 48, posted $1,000 bond after Washington detectives arrested her at her office yesterday in the Atomic Energy Commission.

The warrant charged that Mrs. Sharpe did "feloniously, illegally seize, take and secrete Victoria Jane Sharpe from the person having custody."

She refused to waive extradition in Municipal Court today and the case was continued until June 26 with bond remaining at $1,000.

Commonwealth Attorney Royston Jester III said in Lynchburg Mrs. Sharpe is accused of taking the girl from Ruffner school last Tuesday and putting her in an automobile.

Capt. W. D. Torrence of the Lynchburg police said the child was taken by a woman who asked a teacher that she be taken out "to have her picture made."

Mrs. Sharpe said today she was the victim of "spite" by the girl's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Agatha P. Wray, who swore to the complaint.

The girl has been the center of court action since her parents were divorced several years ago. Jester said Mrs. Wray has had "lawful" custody of the child.

The father is Warren F. Sharpe and the mother is now Mrs. Martha Peck of Middleton, Ohio. Mrs. Sharpe said she did not know where her son is.

Military Medical Care Bill Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON, May 23 (P)—The Senate today passed a compromise bill that would broaden medical care available to dependents of those in the military services.

The legislation, which now goes to the House, was asked by the administration as one of several methods for making military careers more attractive to officers and enlisted personnel.

Ticket Leader's Name Was Left Of Some Of Ballots

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 23 (P)—They left his name off some of the ballots, but Phil Hill won the election anyway. In fact, he led the ticket.

Hill, a Charleston attorney was one of four candidates May 8 for two 6th District delegate seats to the Republican National Convention. There are four counties in the district.

Hill's name was overlooked by the printer of ballots for Boone County.

But official results of the May 8 primary today showed Hill polled 13,206 votes in the other three counties. His closest opponent, Robert Kay, got 9,833 from four counties.

Three Matrons "Join" Circus

BALTIMORE, May 23 (P)—Three young matrons gave vent to the common urge to join the circus clowns and got away with it at the biggest of them all.

They participated in two "walk arounds" under the big top of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey yesterday afternoon.

"For no reason in particular other than that we adore circuses," the trio from Harundale in suburban Baltimore arrived fully made up as a mother, father and daughter. Police directed them to the employees' parking lot.

They stood around chatting with employees. One roustabout going by yelled to Mrs. Mary Harris "I know you, you're Bubbles." Bubbles is a chorus girl in the circus.

One of the professional clowns caught on, however. But he "thought the whole thing was just too funny and promised not to give us away," reported Mrs. Margaret Wallace. He directed them into the show.

Between acts, the other clowns gave Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. June Decker face make-up hints.

Wife Says She Shot Husband To Death Because He Had Asked Her For Divorce

BALTIMORE, May 23 (P)—Desire for a divorce by Army Lt. Eugene C. Johnson led his wife to shoot him to death in their car at the Chemical Center in Edgewood May 14, according to a statement attributed to her today.

The statement by Mrs. Victoria Johnson was taken by the FBI and introduced at her preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart. He held her for action by the federal grand jury.

Johnson, 30, from Princeton, W. Va., was sitting in the front seat of his parked car when he was shot five times. His wife, 35, mother of two daughters by a previous marriage, was in the back seat.

In her statement, Mrs. Johnson said she bought a gun and five bullets in Aberdeen after her husband asked her for a divorce. She said she wasn't sure what she was going to do with it—kill her husband, herself or both.

When he brought up the divorce subject again while in the car, the statement continued, she took the gun from her purse and shot him. A civilian employee of the chemical center, Henry C. Newman, gave an eyewitness report. He was driving by, heard a shot and looked to his left. He saw something drop in the front seat of a parked car.

Newman said he heard the woman in the back seat say "You wanted to leave me." Then she stood up and fired two more shots, saying "you'll never leave me."

Newman ran to the other car and she handed him the gun while screaming "Help me, I've shot my doll."

Mrs. Johnson in her statement described her marriage to Johnson as happy from 1948 until 1953 when he returned from Korea. Then she said trouble arose mainly because of his treatment of her two daughters.

She said he wanted the divorce to marry another woman.

Lightning Bolt Starts Fire, Wrecks Home

Fire, caused by lightning in yesterday morning's thunder storm, destroyed a house in the Levels, W. Va., area.

The storm around 4 a. m. had much noise and brightness to it, the night being made brilliant by the frequent bolts of lightning.

Fuses were reported blown by electric bolts on power lines in Garrett County. No report was available in this county.

However, lightning struck the home of James E. Swisher, Levels, W. Va., and caused approximately $20,000 damage when the two-story, 10-room frame house burned to the ground before firemen arrived.

The bolt struck about 4 a. m., abruptly awakening the Swishers and their two children.

Due to electrical difficulties, Swisher spent almost two hours trying to reach the Romney Volunteer Fire Company by phone. Meanwhile, orchard spray equipment was used to confine the flames to one room until they got out of control.

In placing a phone call, Swisher had to get Romney firemen via Paw Paw.

Fire Chief Henry Powell of Romney said winds blew away from other buildings which escaped damage. The lightning apparently struck in a room used as an office by Swisher, he added.

The family was forced to flee from the blazing home in their night clothing. Nothing else was salvaged. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Cumberland had 4 of an inch of rain, but although Wills Creek rose a little it did not stop work in the channel in the flood protection project.

Lawmakers Seek Data On State Salaries

BALTIMORE, May 23 (AP) — A Legislative Council committee questioned in random fashion members of the lame-duck State Standard Salary Board about some recent wage increases.

The increases were recommended by the board at its May 9 meeting and approved by Gov. McKeldin.

The atmosphere of the hearing by the Budget and Finance Committee was set by Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) when he said some members of the Legislative Council had questioned whether it was in "good taste for the Standard Salary Board, knowing the Legislature had created a new board, to act on anything but emergency requests."

The General Assembly during its session earlier this year scrapped the Standard Salary Board in favor of a new State Employees' Standard Salary Board. Behind the change was dissatisfaction with the board's proposed formula for distributing three million dollars in pay raises for State employees.

Present from the old board were Charles D. Harris, Willard G. Rouse, B. Howard Stansbury and James F. Welsh. All but Welsh are members of the new board, named last week by Gov. McKeldin.

Russell S. Davis, commissioner of personnel who will act as chairman ex-officio of the new board, also was present.

There were these notable developments:

1. Davis, in explaining why some State Roads Commission requests on salary adjustments which were originally submitted to his office two years ago had just been acted on, said:

"They (SRC officials) just have not been able to get together on what they wanted." He said they hadn't finally agreed on what the requests should be until a short time ago.

"They have a personnel man, but they don't use him," he said. "They bypass him." Asked why, he replied: "They don't consider him competent."

2. Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st), referring to Gov. McKeldin's recent reorganization of the roads commission in which Chairman Russell H. McCain, Edgar T. Bennett and Bramwell Kelly were replaced, asked Davis:

"I have read that the governor is going to take care of McCain and Bennett in other jobs. Has he made any requests to you for salaries for them in any other positions?"

Davis said the governor had not.

3. Robert B. Kimble, director of the State Department of Employment Security, told the committee he would soon submit a "package request" for wage increases to Davis and the salary board.

He said he had discovered salaries in his department were woefully inadequate in comparison with those in similar departments in other states.

Park Pool Will Open Wednesday

The Recreation Department is making improvements to the bathhouse and readying the swimming area in preparation for the opening of Constitution Park pool next Wednesday, Memorial Day.

Robert E. Pence, recreation director, said more dressing room space will be provided by removing some of the booths although there will be a few of the booths retained for those who desire privacy.

Arrangements have also been made, he added, to provide more dressing room supervision.

The department is also attempting to solve another problem—excessive wetness of the bathhouse floor. Duckboards are being installed, Pence said, to clear water from the floor.

The pool itself is undergoing extensive scrubbing and repairs where needed and within a few days it is hoped to fill and "warm" the pool before the opening next Wednesday.

The pool will open at noon on weekdays and 1 p. m. Sundays. Supervising will be Ronald Kellogg, manager, and William Pugh, assistant manager. Both are teachers in county public schools, Pence said.

The department plans to conduct free swimming lessons at the park pool for children registered on the city's playgrounds. Pence said the classes will get under way June 25 and continue for six weeks. The classes will be held at 10 a. m. on weekdays.

Neon Firm Buys SRC Building

The old State Roads Commission building on Maple Street in Mapleside was bid in at public auction Tuesday by the Queen City Neon Company.

G. W. Davis, a partner in the neon firm with James Alfred Avirett, said the company plans to expand its business. Details remain to be worked out.

Davis declined to give the amount of the bid but city sources said they understood it to be in the neighborhood of $6,200.

The Mayor and Council, at the request of Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, had been interested in the building and authorized Buchholtz to bid up to $4,200.

Work Under Way On New Bridge Over Town Creek

Work on the second important project in the State Roads Commission's program to improve Route 40 between Cumberland and Hancock began this week, according to G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer.

The George F. Hazelwood Company started construction of a modern bridge over Town Creek, 14 miles east of here.

The initial project, relocation of the east slope of Route 40 on Martin's Mountain, is well under way.

The new bridge will replace one that was built on a curve many years ago. The present span is narrow and constitutes a hazard when the road is wet or slick.

The contract calls for the bridge to be 200 feet long and 30 feet wide, Chaires said.

Hazelwood's low bid on the job was $237,260, the district engineer noted.

The Vero Construction Company has completed clearing the right of way for the 2.3 miles of relocation of Route 40 on the east side of Martin's Mountain.

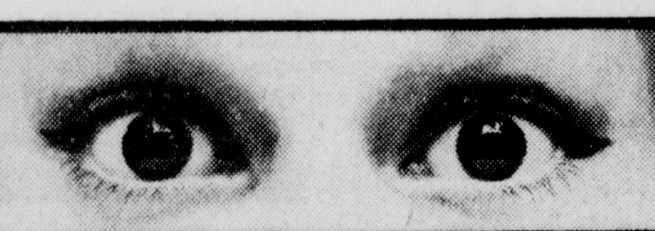

There is considerable cutting and filling of the mountain side's banks and gulleys in this contract.

Chaires has reported earlier that the State Roads Commission is making a strenuous effort to have under contract by fall the relocation and modernization of the west slope of Polish Mountain.

This project would tie in with the Town Creek bridge work that started this week.

Hard-Hit Auto Cities Eligible For Federal Aid

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The government today extended eligibility for special federal aid to Detroit and other auto-producing centers hard hit by unemployment. At the same time it reported employment increasing to record levels virtually everywhere else.

The Labor Department said a spring survey of 149 of the nation's largest labor market areas showed rising employment in almost all except the auto and farm equipment producing areas.

Employment in April was officially set several weeks ago at nearly 64 million, more than two million above the figure for April last year. This spring's job up-trend has led to speculation that employment this summer might top the record total of 65½ million set last August.

The one bad spot, the Midwest's auto and farm equipment industries, has been plagued by reduced sales and curtailed production. The Labor Department calculates auto industry unemployment at 159,000 for the week ended May 12.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit had issued appeals to have Detroit and other auto areas placed on the Labor Department's substantial labor surplus area list. This was done today in the case of Detroit, Flint and Monroe, Mich., Kenosha, Wis., and South Bend, Ind.

The designation makes them eligible for special consideration in receiving defense contracts, rapid tax amortization concessions, and favored treatment over overseas bidders. However, such help is discretionary with the government.

Increased unemployment during the past two months also was reported at three other auto producing centers — Lansing and Saginaw, Mich., and Racine, Wis. — but they were not placed in the "substantial" jobless group.

Detroit and others in this category are rated as having unemployment involving 6 to 9 per cent of the work force. Knoxville, Tenn., also was put in this group because of fewer jobs in clothing plants and completion of atomic energy construction projects.

The Labor Department said its survey of employer hiring plans indicate further job cutbacks in auto, farm equipment and household appliances industries.

Otherwise, the department said, the job situation is improving, especially in the construction and food processing industries because of seasonal expansion with fine weather.

Rising employment was reported in aircraft plans, due not only to a high level of military and civilian plane orders but to expansion in guided missile development.

Among areas shifted to improved job classifications were Indianapolis, Sacramento, Salt Lake City, Atlantic City and Tacoma, Wash.

Cumberland Pays Respects To Piedmont

Centennial Queen Presented Scroll

PIEDMONT — C. William Gilchrist, president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce presented a scroll to Centennial Queen Miss Mary Margaret Martin, at the centennial pageant last night, extending greetings of Cumberland to Piedmont and commemorating the community's 100th anniversary.

The Cumberland representative, accompanied by a delegation from the city, also presented to Mayor Rodney Baker, a copy of the Bicentennial program, marking the 200th anniversary of Fort Cumberland. The bicentennial was held last year in the Queen City.

The delegation from Cumberland extended greetings of the city to the Tri-Towns, complimented the communities on their courage and initiative and cooperative effort in promoting the pageant and centennial observance.

In addition to the delegation from Cumberland, A. F. Hokamp, chairman of the centennial committee, members of the community and members of the town council were present at the ceremony.

The pageant last night again drew a large crowd of interested spectators. The weather has been cool, but each night, attendance has been good. The pageant will be repeated every night through Saturday, and special events are planned each evening. The centennial parade, the biggest ever held here, is planned for Saturday, prior to the colorful centennial revue.

Mott Is GOP Candidate For Mineral Sheriff

KEYSER—The Mineral County Court, sitting as a Board of Canvassers, has recounted the vote for the candidates for the Republican nomination for sheriff in two precincts and while the total votes cast were changed slightly, the difference between Walter Mott, the successful candidate, and second place John I. Rogers was not changed.

As a result, the court declared the primary election results officially closed and announced Mott as the Republican nominee for sheriff.

Rogers requested the recount in Precincts 16 (north of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks in Keyser) and 4 (Shaw). No change in the vote at Shaw was noted after the recount with Mott receiving 19 votes and Rogers 14. However, in the Keyser precinct, every one of the four candidates lost votes. Mott originally had 90, but the recount gave him 88. Rogers went from 48 to 46. Leslie Yost slipped from 60 to 58 and Floyd Payne dropped from three to two votes.

County Clerk Fred Hamill said the reason for the loss was that four voters in the precinct had voted for two candidates for sheriff.

The correct county totals now are: Mott, 1,354; Rogers, 1,317. The vote after the canvass by the County Court was: Mott, 1,356; Rogers, 1,319. The difference between the two candidates in both counts is 37 votes.

Band To Rehearse

LONACONING — A special rehearsal of Lonaconing City band will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in preparation for attending the parade at Piedmont on Saturday.

Band members will leave at 5 p. m. Saturday for the parade line-up. All members who will not be participating in the parade are asked to bring in their uniforms so that other members can use them.

VHS Science Class Uses Unique Means Of Studying Atmosphere Around Earth

LONACONING—"Operation: The Sky Is The Limit" is a core-type project being studied by the Seventh and Eighth grade Science classes at Valley High School Science Department under the instruction of Miss Catherine Manley and W. Edward Wallace, student teacher of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Linda Poland, Arlene Rae, Rita Hartman, Bobby Winters and Hugh Atkinson volunteered from each of the science classes to prepare the "Operation: The Sky Is The Limit" chart which shows the troposphere, stratosphere, ionosphere and exosphere. A manned balloon on the chart is at nine miles from the earth; jet plane at 12½ miles; unmanned balloon at 30 miles; meteors at 55 miles; V-2 rocket at 114 miles and its Wac corporal going to 250 miles; the aurora, "northern light" at 90 miles; and the artificial satellite at 800 miles.

The students are stimulated to read their daily newspapers to keep up on current articles re-

Keyser B&O Vets Get Recognition From Association

KEYSER—System-wide recognition was given the Keyser Division of B&O Railroad Veterans at the annual convention held in the Lord Baltimore Hotel at Baltimore.

The growth in membership, coupled with the popularity of the local group, was apparently responsible for the election of two Keyser residents to the regime of grand officers of the B&O Veterans Association.

Leo C. Wilcox was elected to the office of grand vice president and Estle E. Clark was named to serve on the grand board of directors. Never before, in the entire existence of the association, has anyone from this area been elevated to such high office in the organization.

Wilcox, who is now serving his fifth consecutive year as president of the local group, recently completed a two-year term on the grand board. Clark, secretary-treasurer for several years of the group, will be eligible for re-election to the grand board next year.

Delegates Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Browning represented their respective groups, the Keyser B&O Veterans and the C. W. VanHorn Auxiliary. Mrs. Browning also served on the Grand Auxiliary visiting committee while at the convention.

Roy E. Collins, Staten Island, N. Y., grand president for 10 years, announced his retirement from active service and is succeeded by J. Carl Burdette, Baltimore. Burdette previously served several terms as chairman of the board.

Thomas D'Alessandro, mayor of Baltimore, welcomed the two groups. W. C. Baker, vice president of the railroad, also spoke.

Following the dinner the railroad's general manager, W. R. Galloway, toastmaster, introduced President Howard E. Simpson who was the main speaker of the evening. Other railroad notables introduced included Baker, J. W. Phipps, J. I. Barnes, D. C. Turnbull, P. K. Partee, W. B. Whitsitt, R. L. Harvey, F. W. Einwaechter, A. W. Conley, F. W. Rykoskey, A. K. Galloway and C. W. Van Horn.

Auxiliary Grand President Mrs. Sara Bender, New Castle, Pa., declining the nomination for this office, is succeeded by Mrs. Ralph Gandy, DuBois, Pa. W. A. Robinson, Parkersburg, succeeds William Rosendale, Cincinnati, as grand sergeant-at-arms for the Veterans. The office of chairman of the board, vacated by Burdette, will be filled by J. Carl Sturm, Indianapolis. Seven newly-elected members were seated on the board of directors to replace those lost due to term limitations.

Youth Camp To Open At Blackwater

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 23 (AP)—A forestry camp for youthful lawbreakers, located at Blackwater Falls State Park, probably will open about June 10, James M. Donohoe, president of the Board of Control, said today.

Young male offenders regarded as trustworthy for the camp's easier confinement will work on Conservation Department projects at the park, under supervision of department employees.

The Board of Control and the Conservation Department will operate the camp. Donohoe said a total of 35 to 40 boys now at the State Training Schools at Pruntytown and Lakin and others assigned by courts will make up the first group at the camp.

Heavy rains have held up camp construction, he explained. Since Feb. 5 the camp has never gone more than five days in a row without rainfall. As a result workmen have yet to finish the kitchen and commissary building.

Eventually the camp will house 150 boys for work on conservation projects. Four Quonset-style buildings will be used for dormitories, and two others for the kitchen, commissary and a dining hall. Two frame buildings will serve as camp offices.

Driver Unhurt In Truck Crash

KEYSER—The driver of a loaded tractor-trailer was unhurt when he fell asleep and his tractor-trailer crashed off U. S. Route 50 on Allegheny Front virtually wrecking the vehicle about 4 a. m. yesterday.

The equipment was the property of Harold W. Good, Winchester, Va. Insurance amounting to $15,000 was carried on the cargo and tractor-trailer, according to State Trooper Charles Oliver, who investigated.

Two other men were injured Tuesday afternoon in the accidental collision of a tractor-trailer and a refrigerator truck on Route 50 a short distance west of Burlington. Mud on the highway was blamed.

Chester Warren Mason, 44, of Grafton, driving the empty tractor-trailer, skidded on the highway into the path of the refrigerator truck, carrying a load of meat, operated by Wilkie G. Holler, 38, of Cumberland. The impact forced the refrigerator truck into Mill Creek, ruining its cargo. The trailer in the other vehicle is considered a total loss.

Holler sustained head lacerations and contusions and Mason received lacerations of his head and one elbow. Mason was charged with hazardous driving.

New GOC Observation Tower Completed At Moorefield

MOOREFIELD — Robert McNeill, supervisor of the Moorefield unit of the Ground Observers Corps under the United States Air Force, announces the completion of the observation tower.

The tower is located on the north end of the Moorefield High School grounds and was built with volunteer labor from materials donated by public spirited citizens.

The GOC is a part of the national Civil Defense program and is sponsored and supported by the Air Force. The new tower is manned by volunteer workers, men, women, boys and girls, many of whom have logged hundreds of hours as observer reporters.

All multi-engine planes and jets are reported to the control center in Pittsburgh, where they are plotted. The control center keeps track of all large planes in the air and an unknown plane's course and speed is charted within a short time.

McNeill reports that the new tower is equipped with phone service, is adequately heated and is located close enough to town for the volunteer watchers to walk to their watch.

McNeill expressed his thanks to Charles Combs, Charles Combs, Jr., Ted Patch, the Vo-Ag boys at Moorefield High School, C. A. Ludwick Jr., R. E. Fisher, Charles Hodde, the Hardy County cooperative, Calhoun Planing Mill, Sherman's Machine Shop, Aaron Wellman Jr., Mrs. A. C. McNeill, C. B.

Hiett, the Moorefield Plywood Corp., C. B. Allen and M. W. Gamble, Jr. for donations of labor and materials.

"Additional volunteers are needed in this vital part of the defense of our country," said McNeill, and requests all patriotic citizens to give a few hours each week in this important job.

Tipsy Co-Drivers Are Fined

TOWSON, Md., May 23 (P)—Police were stumped for a moment when they finally caught up with a zig-zagging panel truck. Behind the wheel, they testified today, were two tipsy tight-lipped tree trimmers, one sitting in the other's lap.

Officers Norman Krause and Ernest Zimmerman charged both with drunken driving.

Identifying themselves as Alan Clark, 22, and Donald Arnold, 31, the men said only that they trimmed trees for a living. Neither would say which was the driver.

A third man sat next to them in the truck, the officers said, but he was in no condition to drive, either.

Magistrate John J. Caslin, ruling Clark and Arnold were driving the same vehicle at the same time, found both guilty and fined them $101.45 each.

Class Reorganizes

Officers were elected at a reorganization meeting of the Mary Martha Circle of Park Place Methodist Church. Mrs. Walter Bennett was named vice president; Mrs. Ernest Doman, treasurer; and Mrs. Cletus Mallow, secretary and publicity chairman. Mrs. Mildred Short is leader.

Meetings will be the third Friday of the month at the church. Plans were made for a rummage sale June 26 at Centre Street Church.

Pike Rate Hike Killed

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 23 (P)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today exercised a Democrat voting majority for the first time in 15 years to postpone indefinitely a toll rate boost on the superhighway. It was scheduled to go into effect on Friday.

John F. Byrne, former Democratic Philadelphia councilman, cast the needed third vote for postponement less than 90 minutes after he was sworn in as a commission member.

Commissioner James F. Torrance, the lone Republican member, voted in opposition to the postponement as he did yesterday to force hurried appointment of Byrne by Gov. George M. Leader.

Leader said Byrne's appointment made it "at last possible for the administration to exert effective control over its commission operations."

A 41 per cent rate boost for passenger cars had been scheduled.

A 20 per cent drop in truck tolls also was included in the planned rate set for Friday—the same day the Delaware River Turnpike Bridge will be opened to link the Pennsylvania and New Jersey toll roads.

Girl Guards, Sunbeams Observe 40th Birthday

More than 20,000 girls, from 6 to 18 years in age, will take part in nationwide ceremonies this week marking the 40th birthday of the Girl Guard and Sunbeam organizations of The Salvation Army.

General Evangeline Booth, then head of the Salvation Army, started the Girl Guard organization in the United States on May 21, 1916. On the great stage of Carnegie Hall in New York City, 100 girls arrayed in uniforms designed by General Booth herself, were inducted as the pioneer members of an organization which today numbers 20,000 girls.

Any girl, regardless of race, creed, color or social standing, is eligible for membership. Girls between 6 and 10 become Sunbeams, graduating to Girl Guards when they are 11. Objects of the program are fourfold: guarding the soul, mind, body and others.

Girls spend part of their time outdoors, with programs of camping, hiking and nature seeking. Tests and merit awards provide incentive for developing skills in arts and crafts, and the girls are trained in health, life saving and other basic preparations for intelligent citizenship.

The program also aims at developing character through opportunities to serve others. Great emphasis is placed on the spiritual side of the program.

The Girl Guards will be in charge of evening worship Sunday at the Salvation Army Citadel and the morning service at the South Cumberland Salvation Army Corps.

● Soviet Arms Cut And Propaganda

If the latest Soviet announcement of a spectacular cut in armaments is received with something less than universal acclaim, the Russians have only themselves to thank. The past record of the Soviet Union in this particular field is hardly one to inspire confidence.

At conference after conference in the years since the end of World War II, the Russians have stubbornly refused to agree to any proposal that would produce some progress toward disarmament. The latest meeting in London broke up in a stalemate after the Russians had once again declined to consider any proposals except their own.

This naturally leads Americans to view with more than a little skepticism this announcement that Moscow is doing unilaterally what it would not do in concert with the West.

The reasons why the Soviet Union prefers doing its disarmament by unilateral announcement instead of by an international agreement which can be enforced are perfectly obvious, of course. This method allows the Russians to get the maximum amount of propaganda value out of its announcement with the minimum of inconvenience.

The Soviet Union can cut a million men from its over-sized land armies today and put them to work in the farms and the factories—and put them back in uniform next month without anybody being the wiser. It can talk about mothballing 375 Red navy ships without explaining to anyone whether these are rowboats, out-of-date submarines, or larger and more useful craft.

This sort of gesture, in other words, is embarrassing to the West but virtually valueless in promoting true disarmament or world peace. What the world needs is disarmament that can be nailed down so that it will stay put by international agreement and international inspection. That, unfortunately, is the kind of disarmament the Russians will not buy.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Hard Fist

In his famous Birmingham speech, Nikita Khrushchev said:

"I should like to remind those who shake a fist at us that this method has already been tried. As the saying goes in our country: 'You can't leave a word out of a song.' The truth must be told straight to the face. After the October revolution many came to our country shaking their fists. In the north the fist-shaking was done by the British invaders, in the east by the American and Japanese, in Odessa by the French invaders, and in the Ukraine by the Germans. But the Russian people, defending their country, kicked out both the foreign and their own invaders. Hitler also tried to attack us, with clenched fists, but you know what came of it. Which means that the fist method is not suitable in our case."

This is not quite correct as history. The first part deals with the years 1917-20 before the Soviet government had established itself in the whole of Russia. I can recite some of that history from personal observation because I was in Russia, in Siberia and in China in those years, moving about with considerable freedom.

It was then American policy to prevent Japan from occupying Manchuria and Siberia from Vladivostok to Chita. So we sent over some troops and engineers to run the Maritime Provinces sector of the Trans-Siberian Railroad. A number of Czechs who had been prisoners of war in Russia had marched across the country and had become situated at Chita. They were eventually taken out of Siberia by the Americans and returned to Czechoslovakia.

Attaman Semenov, the White Russian Cossack, was stationed at Manchuli from which he was conducting raids into Siberia and Mongolia. Baron Ungern-Sternberg, a Balt, was setting up a Buddhist kingdom at Urga with himself as a sadistic ruler. At Ufa, a pro-Soviet government, ostensibly independent, was being established which was ultimately recognized as the government of Eastern Siberia. As soon as that situation was stabilized, the Ufa government capitulated to Lenin's government. Attaman Semenov and Admiral Kolchak were defeated and disappeared from history, but what made that possible was the defeat of the Japanese by Siberian partisans at Nikolaevsk (1920) and the heavy Siberian frost which resulted in sentries being found turned into ice over-night.

Had it not been for the American intervention, Japan could have and would have taken Manchuria and the Maritime Provinces of Siberia in 1918. That would have changed the whole course of Russian and Far Eastern history, because it is doubtful if, in the circumstance of those years, Soviet Russia could have mustered sufficient strength to dislodge the Japanese, particularly as, at that time, the peoples of these areas were prevalently non-Russian. As a matter of fact, it was because of the danger of further Japanese intervention prior to 1925 that the Soviet government encouraged Russian migrations to Siberian areas and tried eventually to establish the Jewish Republic of Biro-Bidjan in one of the least livable parts of this country, around the city of Khabarovsk.

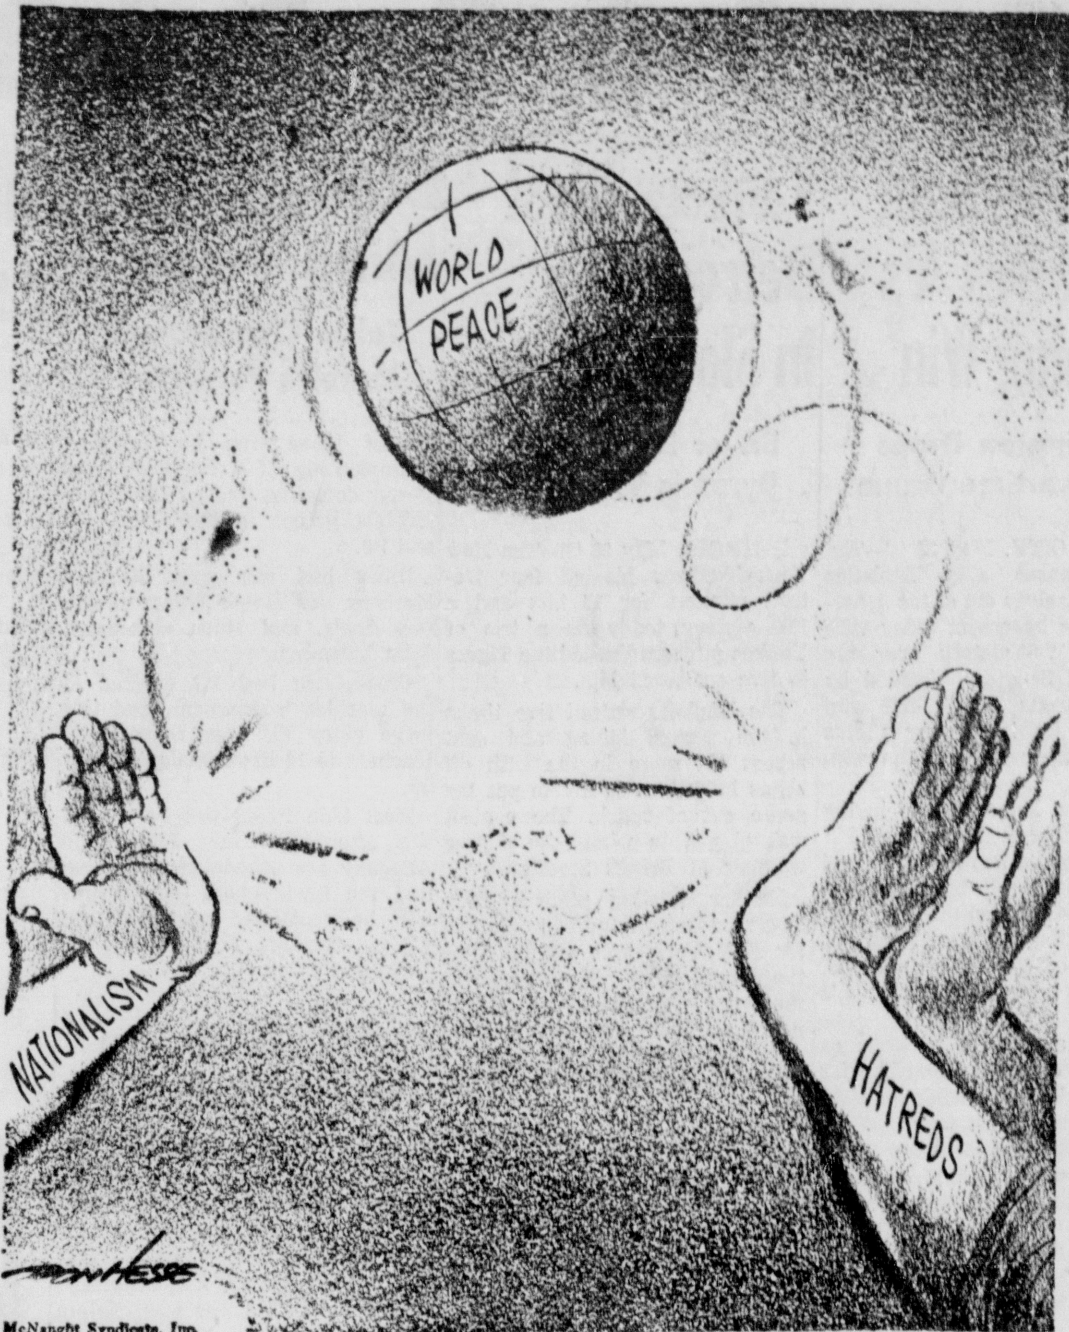

As to the World War II reference in Khrushchev's speech, he omits the fact that Hitler did not shake his fist at Russia when the war started; that, in fact, Hitler and Stalin were allies and their alliance was based on the Ribbentrop-Molotov Pact, one of the most outrageous documents in human history, designed to enslave whole peoples. When Hitler turned on Stalin, it was the United States that came to Stalin's rescue because of the precarious position of Great Britain. The generosity of Harry Hopkins produced $11,000,000,000 of the American taxpayer's money for Stalin, so that in due course, it was American machinery and American credits which laid the foundation for Soviet Russia's present advanced industry.

Also, it needs to be remembered that the Russians managed to steal many American blueprints, not only of the atomic bomb but of other scientific and engineering developments, and whereas they have done very well with what they have stolen, it was a theft of our heritage and the least they can do is be thankful for what they got by thievery.

Instead of shaking a fist at Russia, we saved Russia at least twice. Apparently there is no gratitude among the Slavs.

Armed Services Feud Has Many Ramifications

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—There could be a searching inquiry into the reasons why feuding by the armed services has come out into the open lately, but it isn't likely to be the kind Congress would initiate or pursue.

For, just as in the old days of the battleship and armor plate lobbies, there are vested interests today to whom agitation for this or that weapon is beneficial. Likewise, just as in the old days those states with Navy yards found the senators or representatives sympathetically taking up the cudgels for them, so today there are large military contracts or installations in the states and districts of members of Congress who seem to be active in the new controversy between the armed services.

Why, it may be asked, do the armed services feud and why is it that certain causes are championed in Congress by certain representatives of areas where there is definitely an interest in one of the armed services?

Conflicting Statements

Everything comes under the head of national defense and it is assumed everybody is patriotic and is concerned only with getting the maximum value out of the taxpayers' dollar. But it does seem strange that the armed services nevertheless try to tell each other what they should do with their weapon and how the appropriations should be divided.

Years ago the armed service chiefs paid attention only to their own respective establishments and naturally tried to get as much money as they could from Congress for each particular service. But today the three armed services are often represented in print as telling each other what they should do and what they should have from Congress. The flow of conflicting statements and claims for this or that weapon and controversy over missions and roles is bewildering to the average citizen. On top of it all there are partisans in Congress who say that, of course, President Eisenhower is to blame. He is really no more to blame than was Mr. Truman, under whose administration the biggest fight—between the Air Force and the Navy—broke out.

Much of the trouble is due to the peculiar viewpoint emphasized in recent years that each armed service has the responsibility of winning the next war alone, when in truth the American people expect all the armed services to work together and supplement each other's efforts to bring victory.

But, even establishing this principle seems not enough. The fear that Congress may appropriate vast sums for a rival service stirs up publicity and propaganda and in the course of the discussions some other armed service is disparaged.

Old But Important Story
To what extent is this propaganda supported with the funds of those with a vested interest in the outcome? It's an old story but nevertheless an important one. They worry hereabouts concerning campaign contributions to senators who vote for gas legislation, but nobody seems concerned about contributions from defense contractors.

President Eisenhower has been trying to preserve harmony among the armed services and has succeeded fairly well. But when a prominent Democrat starts a congressional investigation endeavoring to prove that the former commander-in-chief of Allied forces in World War II in effect has neglected the best interests of his country by not allowing all the present-day expansion in the military services that is sought, and when all this agitation is developed on the eve of a presidential election, it is natural to surmise that partisan politics is responsible at least for much of the present furor.

The broad perspective is rarely applied. The discussions do not begin usually with the simple fact that America must be prepared to fight a war tomorrow morning and not when certain weapons now on

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Statewide polls show favorite sons got a better working-out than a sparrow in a badminton game.

There was a bit of mugwumping all over the works with both sides claiming everything, conceding nothing and being satisfied with a stalemate.

That business of mugwumping started when the label was tagged on Republicans opposed to Blaine. It was a fellow with his mug on one side of the fence and his wump on the other.

Before that it meant a man educated beyond his power to comprehend. Most of us can run for office on that platform.

Earliest known about it was Eliot's translation of the Bible into the Indian tongue in 1661. In the Algonquin language mugwump was sachem or leader.

Whatever it means it's difficult to measure your noodles after they're boiled. Once again the favorite sons got honorable mention in the preamble to the miscellaneous.

Pan American Airways Hires Three New People Of Influence Recently

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Pan American Airways, which knows how to use people with influence almost as well as it knows how to fly airplanes, has recently hired three interesting people. They are:

1. The nephew of President Eisenhower, Milton Eisenhower Jr.
2. Robert Murray, former under-secretary of commerce and the man who helped get the White House to reverse, temporarily, a Civil Aeronautics ruling for Northwest Airlines and against Pan American.

3. Roger Lewis, former assistant secretary of the Air Force, who held a key position in the Eisenhower administration when important contracts were given to Pan Am on guided missiles and overhauling Air Force motors.

The interesting thing to watch is whether these new and influential persons will cause the White House and the CAB now to side with Pan American when it comes to awarding the Great Circle route via Alaska to Japan.

Northwest Airlines originally was given this route at a time when Pan American could have got it but didn't apply. Instead it took what looked like the more lucrative route across the Pacific via Honolulu.

White House Reverses

But as transoceanic planes improved, the Great Circle route has become the most efficient to Japan; so Pan American has had astute, charming Vice President Sam Pryor camping out in Washington trying to get Pan Am the right to fly this route.

Just a year ago, the CAB awarded the route to Northwest Airlines for seven years. Whereupon, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, who, like Pryor, has served on the finance committee of the Republican National Committee, persuaded the White House to reverse the CAB decision. He also got reversed a CAB decision to let Northwest continue its route from Seattle to Honolulu. Undersecretary of Commerce Murray helped Weeks in persuading the White House.

However, this caused such a furor that President Eisenhower stepped in personally and reversed his own White House advisers.

Since last year's failure, Pan Am has hired Ike's own nephew, plus the assistant secretary of the Air Force, plus Undersecretary of Commerce Murray, the man who intervened at the White House so effectively in favor of Pan American a year ago.

Pan Am has now applied to the CAB for the right to fly the Great Circle route over the back of Northwest. The hearings are in progress and it will be interesting to see what happens.

DAR And Elizabeth Bentley

The Daughters of the American Revolution are in a dither over Elizabeth Bentley, confessed espionage courier, who now has applied for membership in the DAR.

Her application for membership, which was received in Washington, was transmitted as a matter of routine to Louisiana, where Miss Bentley is teaching near Opelousas. But she ran into opposition from the DAR's Louisiana State Regency. Some of the ladies felt that the fact that she had acted as a courier for passing war secrets from the U. S. Government to her lover, Russian spy Jacob Golos, did not qualify her as a Daughter of the American Revolution, even though she had now repented and testified to expose others.

So her application was returned by the Louisiana regent, Mrs. William E. Hicks, of Shreveport, unapproved. DAR headquarters in Washington are now wondering just what they should do.

Penny-Pinching Doesn't Pay

Penny-pinching Congressman John Taber of New York has carried money-saving to the point where it has boomeranged against his own political future. He pried, so diligently, and at times so unfairly, into Sampson Air Base in his own district near Geneva, N. Y., that the Air Force got fed up and ordered the base closed down.

Now Taber is frantically trying to keep the base open or move Mitchell Field from Long Island to his district to take Sampson's place—neither of which will be too economical.

Taber, who at 76 is the oldest member of the Appropriations Committee and sometimes its chairman, has cut down on funds for the Voice of America at the same time that both President Eisenhower and President Truman were urging more means of combating Russian propaganda. He cut down on the Food and Drug Administration after that agency had incurred the wrath of a Taber constituent whose raspberries were too carefully inspected by Food and Drug.

And he acted as if Sampson Base was his own personal domain. For years he fussed and fumed at Air Force officers, accusing them of everything from waste to outright graft. Taber has had Francis Menillo, salary $4,707, (who is supposed to be working for the House Appropriations Committee but is seldom seen near the Capitol) constantly prying into the base.

Once Taber accused an Air Force major of using government materials to build a cabin cruiser, but never rectified his accusation after the charge was disproved.

Again when Congress appropriated $5,000,000 for emergency government housing at Sampson Base, Taber got the contracts canceled on the ground that the bids were too high.

Finally, Taber demanded the firing of three civilians and three majors, though investigation had failed to prove any of the charges against them. One man, Albert L. Hitchman, who got so irked at Taber that he blew his top, did get fired—even though four days earlier he had received a commendation from Commanding General Whitecliff E. Steele.

Yet after all his interference, Taber now claims that he wants Sampson Air Base left open, or Mitchell Field moved into replace it.

NOTE—It's an election year and Taber faces tough opposition. (Copyright, 1956, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

The Troika

By Stewart Alsop

DAMASCUS

The "Troika," as someone has called it after the three horse team that draws a Russian sleigh, operates all over the Middle East. But here in Damascus, the lovely city of the seven rivers, the "Troika" not only operates but rules.

Syria's president, Shukri Kuwaty, does not govern his country. Except for a tendency to oratory, very little is left of the fiery Arab independence leader who once defied Turkish torture. Nowadays Kuwaty seeks only peace and comfort, perhaps comfort above all; so he obeys the "Troika."

Syria's amiable, astute, decidedly temporary premier Said Ghazi does not govern his country either. Even the chief of army intelligence, Abdul Hamid Saraj, the young, dynamic, leftwing captain who has the most important influence on the Syrian army and is constantly being tipped as Syria's next military dictator, does not exercise any final authority. For both Ghazi and Saraj also obey the "Troika."

Strange But Effective

What then is this "Troika," which has acquired predominate power in this country where the slightest hint of foreign influence used to stimulate paroxysms of anti-colonial rage? It is simply the strangely assorted but highly effective combination of Egyptian political leadership, Saudi Arabian bribe money, and Communist organizational talent.

Of these it is necessary to say at once that the Communist party is measurably the least important as yet. In the last year, the crafty chief of all Middle Eastern Communists, Khaled Badqash, has managed to make communism almost respectable in Syria. He can turn out a street crowd of several thousand whenever he chooses. His organizers have partly penetrated the other leftwing groups.

But although Badqash has the usual organizational advantage of Communists everywhere, he has much less real appeal as yet than the other leftwing leaders like the fiery Socialist, Akram Hurani, and the military politician, Capt. Saraj. Furthermore, men like Hurani and Saraj are much more nationalist than they are leftist. And their angry, suspicious and violent brand of nationalism does not lend itself to final domination by the Communists.

As for Saudi Arabian bribe money, this is one of the most extraordinary phenomena in the whole Middle East. In Syria and Lebanon, the main centers of expenditure, the Saudi Arabian government is rather reliably reported ed to be investing something like half a million a month of its American oil dollars in politicians and the press.

Stories Can Be Authenticated

You hear well-authenticated tales of organized press visits to Saudi Arabia, in the course of which the Syrian and Lebanese editors were each sweetened by a tactful little envelope containing the equivalent of $1,200 — which is a lot of money hereabouts. Anyone who wants to start a newspaper in Damascus, however silly his rag may be, can reportedly count on a sufficient monthly subvention from the Saudi embassy to make journalism a paying proposition.

The stories of Saudi purchases of politicians of all colors are equally well authenticated and even more numerous. Altogether, the discovery of oil in Saudi Arabia has brought a glowing new prosperity to public life in this part of the world.

But Communist organization only gives impetus; Saudi money only imposes unanimity. The real direction of Syrian affairs comes from Egypt, and more specifically from Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Undoubtedly, Nasser's authority in Syria is strongly reinforced by the other members of the "Troika." Undoubtedly, too, Egyptian authority is all the easier to assert because Syrian politics currently resembles nothing so much as a basket of eels. All the eels are in competition. The Egyptians, so to speak, hold every eel by the tail. Even Capt. Saraj does not apparently have the strength to take over the government without Egyptian backing, which there is good reason to believe he would like to have but cannot get.

Abnormal Mood

For the purpose of any practical analysis of the Middle Eastern situation, it is vitally important to note these truly remarkable features of the situation here in Syria. But one should not stop there. Normally, the Communist organization would not be so effective. The Saudi bribery would arouse more indignation. The Egyptian leadership of Syrian would be resented.

But recent history, and particularly the Palestine war, have created an abnormal mood in Syria, in which Gamal Abdel Nasser's special blend of militarism and anti-Westernism have a great appeal. And it is this all-dominating mood which causes the activities of Nasser's allies to be tolerated, as it also caused the voice of Nasser to be heeded at all times.

LaSalle Blanks Mt. Savage, 8-0, To Pad Bi State Lead

Snaps Indians Winning Skein On Home Field

Hits LaSalle Homer

MT. SAVAGE, May 23—Lefty Bill Roberts pitched four-hit ball and Regis Fair smacked a fifth inning homerun as LaSalle High Explorers blanked Mt. Savage, 8-0, here today in a Bi-State Conference game.

The loss snapped the Indians' home game winning streak at six conquests and marked the first time this season Coach Joe Carter's tossers had dropped a home game this year.

The Explorers' win, 11th in 14 games in the conference, padded their first place lead to a full game over the idle Fort Hill Sentinels.

Coach George Geatz' charges hopped on the slants of southpaw Wayne Fleegle in the first inning to salt away the verdict.

Roberts opened with a base on balls and Fair singled. The former then scored on a wild pitch and Fair came around on a pair of infield outs to register a pair of first inning runs which were enough for the decision. Fair hit his homer in the fifth with nobody aboard.

Roberts allowed only four bingles, one a two-base hit by Tom Stevens, fanned 12 and walked only two. It was the left-hander's third win of the season for LaSalle.

In a Bi-State game today Fort Hill will attempt to draw closer to the Explorers when the Sentinels invade Hyndman in a 4 p. m. battle. The lineups:

Friend Blanks St. Louis, 6-0

PITTSBURGH, May 23 (AP)—Bob Friend, big Pittsburgh Pirate right-hander pitching with but two days' rest, hurled a brilliant 6-0 shutout over the St. Louis Cardinals tonight. It was his fourth consecutive victory and gave him a 7-2 record, tops in the majors.

Dale Long, Pirate first baseman, continued his power hitting by blasting a homer over the center field wall at the 436-foot mark in the seventh inning. It was his 11th of the year, his fifth in as many games.

Friend, in hurling his first shut-out of the season, scattered six hits—all singles. He struck out five and walked two, one intentionally.

Willard Schmidt hooked up in a hurling duel with Friend until the Pirates blasted the game wide open in the fifth with three runs, two on a triple by Lee Walls and another on a sacrifice fly by Long. Scheduled Today

FROSTBURG, May 23 — The Men's Athletic Council will hold a banquet today in the college dining hall at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Letters and jackets will be presented to athletes who have earned them. Frank Gustine, a former infielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will be the speaker, and Dr. Alice K. Schuster, advisor to the cheerleaders, will act as mistress of ceremonies for the 6:30 p. m. affair.

Thomas Kelly will receive the most valuable senior award and jackets will be presented to Francis Poland, Joseph Steen, and David Dunn. Participation in a varsity sport for three consecutive years is required for credit to win a jacket.

Letters will be awarded to athletes active in at least one of the varsity sports on campus. The complete list of letters is not available. The list will be compiled at the end of the track, tennis, and baseball seasons.

Thomas Kelly will receive the most valuable senior award for his outstanding work on the soccer team this year. He broke the former season scoring record of seven, held by himself and Raymond Ralston, by booting home eight goals in five games. Kelly starred in soccer for four years for Frostburg.

U.S. Tennis Hopes Fade

Woman May Take French Crown

PARIS, May 23 (AP)—United States hopes of winning a title in the French International Tennis Championships were virtually left in the hands of the women today as Australia's implacable Lew Hoad and his 19-year-old partner Ashley Cooper took command of the men's doubles.

All the Americans have been eliminated from the men's singles and only one Bob Perry of Los Angeles, survives in doubles.

Perry and his Australian partner Don Candy advanced to the semifinals today with a 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4 victory over a listless Italian pair of Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli. But they were far from being as impressive as Hoad and Cooper were in whacking Belgium's Davis Cup pair of Gino Mezzi and Jackie Brichant, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3.

In the women's division, it's a different matter. New York's Althea Gibson, winner of six women's titles in Europe this spring, and 12 since she began touring in India last winter, is safe in the singles semifinals. Today she and her British partner, Angela Buxton, advanced to the doubles semifinals as did the All-American team of Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., and Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y.

Laurel President To Tour Europe

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—John D. Schapiro, president of Laurel Race Course, sails for Europe tomorrow to drum up interest in his International horse race.

The invitation race will be held for the fifth time next Nov. 12. While in England, Schapiro will go to the Epsom Derby on June 6, the Coronation Cup the next day and the Oaks on June 8.

The following day, he will cross the channel to France. He plans to attend the French Derby at Chantilly on June 10 and the Grand Prix de Paris at Longchamp on June 24.

Schapiro may visit racing centers in Italy before returning home in July.

Swaps May Start In Saturday Race

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 23 (AP)—An impressive workout today put Swaps back as a probable starter against Bobby Brocato in Saturday's $100,000 added Californian at Hollywood Park.

Rex Ellsworth's 1955 Kentucky Derby champion toured six furlongs in 1:10 3/5. Earlier he had been listed as a doubtful starter.

If Swaps is at his best, it figures to be a sensational duel as Bobby Brocato is in the finest condition of his career. Swaps won the California last year. Brocato won the Santa Anita Handicap and the San Juan Capistrano Stakes. The big bay worked six furlongs yesterday in 1:10 2/5.

Cubs Beat Phils, 5-4

Pasquel's Wild Toss Gives A's 17 Inning Win

Washington Drops 7-6 Overtime Game

KANSAS CITY, May 23 (AP)—The dogged Kansas City Athletics pulled themselves out of the American League basement today with a 17-inning 7-6 victory over the Washington Senators, decided by Camillo Pascual's bases-full wild pitch that let bonus boy Cletus Boyer scamper in with the winning run.

It was the longest game in the American League this year. Jim Finigan's home run to lead off the seventeenth against faltering Connie Grob tied the score after Washington had gone ahead 6-5 in its half on Roy Siever's single, a sacrifice and Whitey Herzog's double.

Then in a struggle as tense as though the clubs were battling for the league lead, the Athletics eked out the winning run. Grob got Joe Ginsberg on a pop foul but young Boyer popped a single to right. Manager Lou Boudreau, who had used three straight pinch hitters in a successful effort to tie the score in the ninth, reached into his bullpen and brought up lefthanded pitcher Tom LaSorda to hit for Tom Gorman.

Skinner Charlie Dressen yanked Grob and brought on lefthander Chuck Stobbs to pitch. Then Boudreau substituted another hurler, right-handed hitting Alex Kellner for LaSorda. The big pitcher responded with a single to short right field, sending Boyer to third. Then Pascual came in to relieve Stobbs and walked Mike Baxes on four pitches, filling the bases.

That set the stage for the wild heave that ended the 4-hour, 5-minute game.

Yankees Blast Detroit, 13-5, In Sloppy Game

Bauer Hits Homer, Byrne Is Victor

DETROIT, May 23 (AP)—The New York Yankees blasted four Detroit pitchers for 17 hits and a 13-5 victory today as a trio of Yankee pitchers limited the Tigers to five scattered hits.

The Yankees scored five times in the second inning and sent across six more in the fifth off bonus baby Jim Brady to put the game out of reach. The contest was played in windy, 50 degree weather at Briggs Stadium.

Neither starting pitcher, Billy Hoelt for Detroit and Rip Coleman for New York, was around after the second inning. The game was marred by seven errors and 14 bases on balls. Yankee pitchers gave up nine of the walks and the victors committed three of the miscues afield.

Walks and errors were directly responsible for all of the Detroit runs. The Tigers scored twice in the second without a hit and three times in the fourth on just one hit, a double by Harvey Kuenn.

Southpaw Tommy Byrne, third Yankee pitcher, hurled the last five innings, shutting out the Tigers on three singles. He was credited with his second triumph of the season against no losses.

Hoelt took the loss, his second compared with three victories. New York broke out from a 7-5 margin with the big fifth inning. Hank Bauer's home run, the only one in the game, came after Andy Carey had singled and Eddie Robinson had doubled. That started it.

Three straight singles got rid of Brady, and two more runners scored before Al Aber could retire the Bombers.

Score, Mossi Hurl Cleveland To 6-3 Victory

Tribe Scores First Win Over Boston

CLEVELAND, May 23 (AP)—Herb Score and Don Mossi today pitched the Cleveland Indians to their first triumph of the season over the Boston Red Sox, 6-3.

The second place Tribe increased its lead over the third place Bostonians to 1½ games.

Score, gaining his fifth triumph in eight decisions, held the Red Sox to six hits, none of which did any damage. But the American League strikeline ace lost his control in the eighth inning, walking in one run on four bases-on-balls.

Mossi promptly walked in the second run and an infield ground-out accounted for the third tally. So Boston's trio of runs were scored without a hit.

Score struck out seven, raising his total to 67. He walked eight. The Indians clubbed 13 hits, their season high.

They scored an unearned run in the fourth on two singles and a bad throw by Jim Persall. They added a second tally in the fifth on three straight singles and exploded for two in the sixth on two singles, two walks and Jim Busby's double to left. Preston War opened the seventh with a double. Rudy Regalado and Bobby Avila followed with singles and Score sacrificed for the last two runs.

The loss was the first of the season for righthander Frank Sullivan.

Chisox Down Orioles, 3-2

Winners Break Five Game Losing Streak

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—Southpaw Jack Harshman chalked up his second victory of the season today, pitching seven-hit ball to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 3-2 victory over Baltimore.

A shivering crowd of 1,924 watched in mid-forty degree temperatures as the White Sox spotted the Orioles a 1-0 lead and then came back to snap a five-game losing streak.

The Orioles took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Harshman walked Gus Triandos and Harold Smith after Hoot Evers and George Kell had singled.

Chicago tied the score in the second inning when Sammy Esposito rifled a double down the right field line to score Larry Doby, who had opened the inning with a single. A two-run blast in the fourth inning, which saw Baltimore starting pitcher Johnny Schmitz driven from the mound, gave Harshman enough of a lead to hold on for the win.

Doby opened the fourth with a single. Catcher Sherm Lollar also singled. First baseman Walt Dropo walked to fill the bases at Ray point Schmitz was relieved by Ray Moore.

Moore walked Esposito and Harshman to force Doby and Lollar across the plate.

Hemmis And Harper Win In Pennsy Cycle Climb

Annex Two Of Four Washington Tests

Cumberland motorcyclists won two of the four hill-climbing events staged by the Wolfpack Motorcycle Club Sunday at Washington, Pa.

Joseph W. Hemmis, 111 Humbird street, clerk in the scale of force at Eastbound Hump on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, won the 74 cubic inch professional final in 5.93 seconds, the fastest time of the day, and finished third in another pro contest in 6.93 seconds. The former national champion was aboard an English Triumph in both tests.

Clarence Harper, 724 Elm street, blacksmith at the local B. & O. Bolt and Forge Plant, piloted his Harley Davidson to victory in one of the 45 cubic inch contests in 7.53 seconds and finished fourth in another event.

Hemmis defeated Sam Kakabar, Beaverdale, Pa., (6.56); Howard Mitzell, York, Pa., (8.20) and Louis Corriere, Easton, Pa., (10.20) in the 140-foot climb in which he set the fastest time of the day. Kakabar (6.23) won the other pro event, Andy Bacura (6.56) of Pittsburgh was second, Hemmis, third, and Mitzell (7.00) fourth.

Harper's victorious ride was over Mike Brandik (7.70) of Beaverdale, Pa.; Gordon Mitzell (120 feet) of York, Pa. and Phil Frantz (100 feet) of Cleveland.

Hemmis finished in third place and Harper copied two thirds in the first hill climb of the season at Donora, Pa., on May 6.

Both slant riders expect to compete in a program at Williamsport, Pa., on Sunday.

C&A Gas Rate Hearing Is Recessed

PSC To Resume Case June 20

BALTIMORE, May 23 (AP) — The Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Co. laid its case for a $295,000 rate increase before the Public Service Commission today and the commission gave opponents a month to study it.

The case was recessed until June 20, at which time PSC people's counsel and legal spokesmen for the city of Cumberland and Allegany County will have an opportunity to cross-question company witnesses.

The company told the commission it is asking for a return of 6.44 per cent on its investment. Under the proposed new rates, customers using C&A gas for cooking and heating water would pay about $1 more a month. Those using gas for heating their homes would pay $1.10 more.

11 Per Cent Boost

The company estimated the increase at about 11 per cent. It would apply to about 21,000 customers, most of them living in and around Cumberland.

The company said its proposed rates would raise its revenues by $295,000 a year, but C. F. Waterman, assistant vice president, testified that the company would get only $147,500 of that amount. The rest, he said, would go for federal and state taxes.

Waterman testified that while the Public Service Commission ruled two years ago that the company is entitled to a return of 5.75 per cent on its investment, it has never made that much under its present rate structure.

The return last year was only 4.78 per cent, Waterman said.

John W. Avirett, chief counsel for the company, told the commission that the company plans to invest $1,310,000 this year to improve service to Maryland customers and that it has spent $3,625,000 for plant improvement in the past two years.

Finan, Getty Take Part

Albert B. Lauderbaugh, assistant vice president and chief engineer for the company, outlined its operations in areas which it serves in Maryland and West Virginia.

Financial and technical details on which the request is based were presented by C. F. Waterman, also an assistant vice president, and C. J. Yarsky, a rate analyst.

Peoples Counsel Wilfred T. McQuaid, Cumberland City Solicitor Thomas B. Finan, and Allegany County Counsel Gorman E. Getty will take up the cross-examination of company witnesses when the case resumes June 20.

The opponents made no statement today, except to say that the proposed increase "directly and adversely affects the interests of individual and corporate customers of the company who are residents and taxpayers of Allegany County and the city of Cumberland."

Hook In River To Be Removed

The realignment of the channel of the Potomac River will change the course of the meandering stream. One of the dramatic changes will be made in the area seen here, which is within 100 feet of the downstream end of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project. During work now under way on Potomac River

Channel Section 1, the E. J. Albrecht company is dredging the bed of the stream to create a new channel marked by the black lines. Part of the materials being excavated are used to build earth levees for the project here and in Ridgeley. The span is a Western Maryland Railway bridge across the Potomac.

Industrial Arts Exhibit Open At Fort Hill

The Industrial Arts Department of Fort Hill High School is staging its annual public exhibition in the school gymnasium today from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., according to Victor D. Heisey, principal.

The exhibition shows the projects undertaken in various school shops and by various classes in Industrial Arts. The exhibits include work actually produced, show some of the tools and machinery utilized, and show some machines in operation.

Instructors responsible for the display and the courses studied cover such subjects as machine shop, woodwork and general carpentry, home repair and maintenance, general shop skills, metal crafts, printing and graphic arts, drafting and mechanical drawing, and blueprint making and reading.

School officials said the display this year is among the best ever presented and a general invitation is extended to parents, friends of the school and all other interested persons. There is no admission charge, and the exhibition may be viewed anytime today between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m.

The Industrial Arts instructors include Lee R. Alexander, general industrial arts, woodwork and carpentry; John A. Ferguson, mechanical drawing, drafting and blueprints; Thomas R. Hinds, general machine shop and shop skills; Charles F. Eberly, general industrial arts and general shop; Lawrence Strem, mechanical drawing, drafting, and F. Allan Weatherholt, printing and graphic arts.

Mayor Is Stymied In Locating Man

Mayor Roy W. Eves is trying to learn the present address of Harrison Summerfield.

The search is being made at the request of Francis E. Dickerson, 1340 Des Moines Street, Des Moines, Iowa, who told Mayor Eves it is important that he contact Summerfield.

Summerfield, Dickerson wrote, was in "Uncle Sam's service" for about 12 years.

Mayor Eves said he has checked several suggestions made by Dickerson but has been unable to locate the man.

Dead Sea Scrolls Featured In New Books At Library

"The Dead Sea Scrolls" by Miller Burrows is one of a number of new and popular books now available at the Cumberland Free Public Library, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

The Burrows book is a professional analysis of the amazing treasures of ancient manuscripts. Another worthwhile book on the same subject is Edmund Wilson's "Scrolls From The Dead Sea."

Another new book at the local library is "Man Under The Sea," a book of undersea exploration, written by James Dugan, author of "The Great Iron Ship."

"Mountains of Pharaoh," the secrets of the Pyramids, presented by Leonard Cottrell, is another of the new books at the library here. Cottrell describes the men who the Court House about 3 p. m. yesterday from a woman who sounded near-hysterical as she said a bear was trying to get into her house through the back door.

She said she lived on Christie Road, but hung up before giving more specific directions or her name.

Johnson and a reporter for the Cumberland News traveled along virtually all of Christie Road but saw no sign of a bear.

Meanwhile, State Police got a similar call. Only this one said that the house was in the Piney Grove section east of Town Hill. Tfc. Charles H. DeWitt and a trainee responded but could find no sign of a bear there.

The wife of a forest warden in the area between Oldtown and Paw Paw received a third call, and this time Brook Bodkin, senior forest supervisor, and William J. Slider, forest guard, combed the Oldtown section but to no avail.

If this was the work of pranksters, as authorities believe, such foolishness could have serious consequences by taking these men away from important duties. The trooper might be needed to investigate a crime and the other employees might be called upon to extinguish a forest fire somewhere in the county.

Army Engineer River Plans To Be Explained

Interstate Group Meets Tomorrow

Plans of the Corps of Engineers for developing the resources of the Potomac River will be explained at a meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin in Martinsburg tomorrow.

Col. Ray Adams, district engineer, will outline the Army Engineers' restudy of the river basin to plan for developing the stream from all angles—recreation, municipal industrial water supply, regulation of low water flow, agricultural and navigational uses, flood control and pollution abatement.

At present, the Army Engineers are working on the watershed of the North Branch of the Potomac, according to the commission's newsletter.

If present plans materialize, the water pollution aspect of the study will be handled by a group of federal, state and interstate agencies in the river basin.

Negotiations are now underway, the commission reported, between the Army Engineers, the regional office of the Public Health Service and the commission to work out and carry forward the study by their joint efforts.

Plans call for utilizing the technical and equipment resources of the Taft Sanitary Engineering Center at Cincinnati, the Maryland Pollution Control Commission and the Potomac River Commission.

Symphony Gets $250 From City

A check for $250 from the Mayor and City Council, representing the city's annual subsidy of the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra, was presented to Wilton Sykes, conductor of the 44-member orchestra, Tuesday night by Finance Commissioner John J. Long.

The presentation took place during an intermission in the orchestra's "pops" concert Tuesday night which wound up the group's schedule for the season. An enthusiastic audience of about 400 persons attended the finale.

Sykes, ending his first year as conductor succeeding his brother, S. Lua Sykes, already is beginning plans for the next season. For one thing he wants to keep the orchestra semi-active during the summer months with once-a-month rehearsals.

When September arrives he will resume weekly rehearsals and all of the concerts next season are expected to follow the "pops" idea. As an innovation Sykes would like to take the orchestra to a neighboring city for a "good will" concert next year.

Carpenter Dies After Falling At Plant Site

Never Regained Consciousness

A 36-year-old carpenter for the Consolidated Engineering Company, Inc., Baltimore, died about 7:30 o'clock last night in Memorial Hospital without regaining consciousness from injuries he sustained about 10 hours earlier when he fell while working at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant site at North Branch.

The dead man was William H. Legas, RFD 3, Meyersdale, Pa., who had been working at North Branch since April 14. Married, he was the father of three children.

The injured man was admitted to Memorial Hospital at 9:20 a. m. He had multiple head injuries.

Fell Through Floor

According to Edmund B. Ward, vice president of the engineering company in Baltimore, the accident occurred in what is known as the rough-glass building. He said the building is a one-story affair with an equipment tunnel beneath.

Legas apparently fell through a hole in the floor of the building to the tunnel below, striking his head on a gasoline-driven water pump, Ward added.

Ward said Legas fell about 20 feet.

This account of the accident was verified by C. Howard Turner, project supervisor for Consolidated, who said Legas, a member of Somerset, Pa., Local 1320 Carpenters Union, was at work on structural work at the building when the accident occurred.

Nurses On Duty

Ward said the company keeps two registered nurses on duty at the plant site and has a fully-equipped first aid room. When today's accident occurred, one of the nurses went to the scene and remained with Legas until he was admitted to the hospital.

Ward also said there is a safety committee on the job which has begun a review of the source of yesterday's mishap.

The Carpenters Union also has an inspector to check safety methods at construction projects and looks into accidents such as the one yesterday.

This was the second on-the-job injury reported this week at the site. A man identified as Junior Beverlin of Fort Ashby, suffered a fractured vertebra when he fell off a form while at work Monday.

Mr. Legas was born February 9, 1920, in Indian Head, Pa., a son of Andrew and Anna (Kane) Legas.

Surviving are his parents, his wife, the former Miss Beulah Kirchner; three children, Patricia, William and Bonnie Legas, all at home; six brothers, Calvin, Indian Head; Milton, Ligonier, Pa.; Ernest, Rockwood, Pa.; Frank and Charles, both of Ohio, and Henry, Indian Head, and four sisters, Mrs. Reuben Johnson, Dunbar, Pa.; Mrs. David Ansell, Ohio; Miss Jennie May Legas and Miss Rose Anne Legas, both of Indian Head.

Mr. Legas was a member of the Church of the Brethren and the Odd Fellows Lodge. Friends may call at the Konhaus Funeral Home, Meyersdale.

Man Catches Foot In Power Mower

Homer Eackles, 30, of 119 Maple Street, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night after catching his right foot in a power mower.

Hospital attaches said Eackles lost the tip of one toe and all of the others were lacerated. He was reported in "good" condition.

Members of the Local 1024 committee which selected the winner Tuesday night were Ralph E. Porter, George A. Brown, L. M. Twigg, Ashby Lawrence and Harvey May.

Freight Wreck Ties Up B&O Lines At Hobbs

10 Cars Derail, Close Main Line

A 10-car freight derailment last night tied up the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's three main tracks at Hobbs, W. Va., midway between Harpers Ferry and Martinsburg.

Nobody was hurt in the derailment, but the railroad's crossover switches at the site were badly chewed up, one westbound and two eastbound tracks were closed.

Passenger trains arriving in Cumberland last night were past the scene before the pileup took place, and so were not delayed.

Two others, scheduled to arrive around 1 a. m. (EST), were expected to be late.

The derailment involved 10 loaded boxcars of eastbound freight train No. 396, which jumped the track at 7:35 p. m. (EST). The engine and the first 13 cars had passed the spot when the 14th car and the nine behind it went off.

The railroad was rerouting all trains over Western Maryland Railway tracks from Miller to Hagerstown, and over the "Hagerstown branch" of the B&O from Hagerstown to Weverton.

Cause of the wreck was undetermined, and tracks were expected to be closed until sometime today.

The railroad listed the conductor as a man named Sensindiv, the engineer as E. T. Hixon. Both are from Brunswick.

Stray Dog 'Helps' Dispose Of Cat

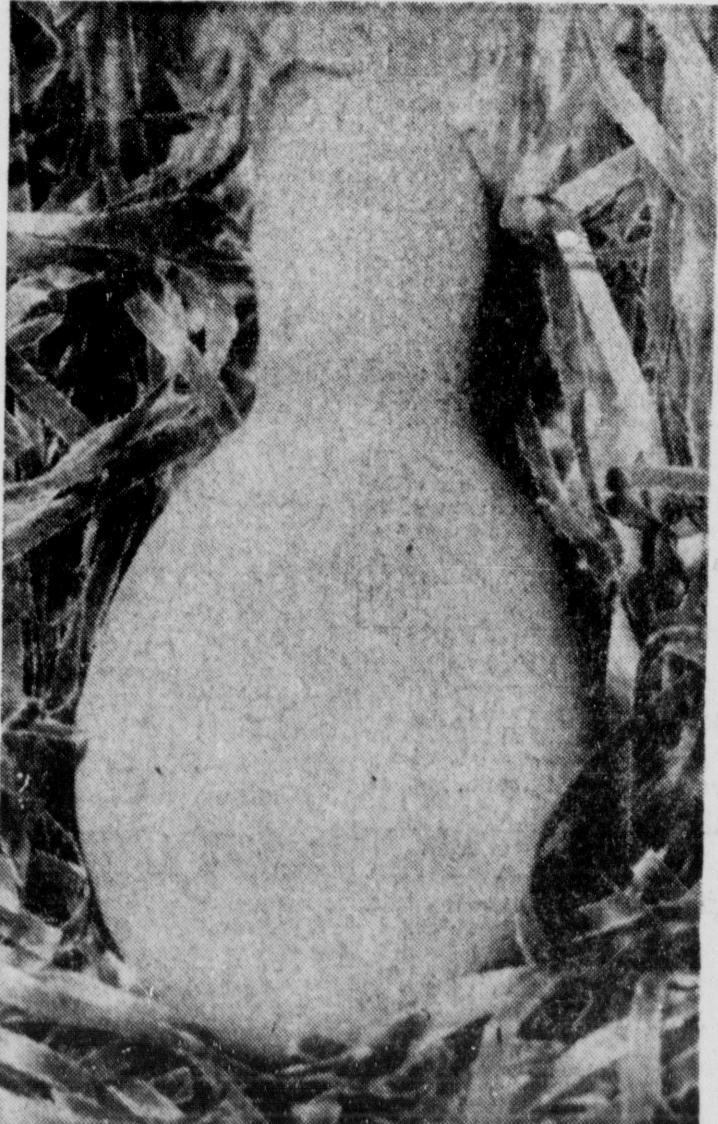

Cumberland's humane officer received some unwanted help Monday as he was about to dispose of a "discarded" cat at the city dump.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer, said he was told Humane Officer Charles W. Welsh had removed the cat from his truck, holding it by a noose attached to a stick, when the animal was tackled by a stray dog, running at large on the city dump.

He said Welsh and a companion, Richard Martin, tried to separate the animals but that the dog won the fight first.

Duckpin Egg

An unidentified practical joker among the hens owned by Guy Propst, Baltimore Pike, laid this odd-shaped egg, which resembles either a duckpin or an Al Capp Shmoo more than an egg. Propst's sister, Miss Medie Propst, who works in a local food market, took it to work with her yesterday, and it attracted considerable attention. It's shown here about twice actual size. Miss Propst plans to hardboil it and cover it with wax in order to preserve it.

Final Flood Bond Issue To Be Sold

Fund Has Dipped To $98,842 Mark

The City of Cumberland must sell another bond issue soon to complete the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, said the final bond issue should be sold at the same time as the $150,000 bond issue being planned to help finance the addition to the Nurses Home at Memorial Hospital.

The size of the bond issue, he said, will depend upon the estimates of the amount of money which must be spent for construction and real estate acquisition for the flood control work.

On January 31, the City of Cumberland sold a $600,000 flood control bond issue to the Harris Trust and Savings Company, Chicago, and the F. W. Craigie Company, of Richmond, Va., at an average interest rate of 2.532.

About $98,000 Left

The bonds were sold at a time the city's flood account was depleted, and as of yesterday, $98,842.67 remained in the city's flood account.

The biggest bite from the account was taken by a $270,000 check forwarded to the government to cover the cost of the new Baltimore Street Bridge.

Other major expenditures early this year included the $90,000 balance due the government for local costs on Wills Creek Channel Sections 2 and 3 work, and about $30,000 as the city's share of construction on Wills Creek Channel Section 4.

Face Bridge Costs

During April, the city issued checks totaling $24,000 for land and bridge construction.

The biggest immediate item to be paid from the fund is the rest of the cost of the Market Street Bridge.

The bridge was let under a $176,963 contract and the contractor, H. D. Case Inc., has received $61,289.09 of this amount.

Gibson said the city will receive some funds from the government from real estate acquisition.

To date, the City of Cumberland has sold bonds totaling $2,100,000 and Allegany County $1,000,000 toward the local costs of the $18,000,000 flood protection program.

Local Scouters Will Attend National Meet

Potomac Council will be represented at the 64th annual meeting of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America tomorrow and Saturday in Cincinnati.

Attending from here will be Miles G. Thompson, Nemaconia district commissioner and national council representative, and Mrs. Thompson, and Willis V. Smith, Scout executive.

Over 1,500 adult leaders from all parts of the nation will be present to represent the 538 councils which administer the program to 4,175,134 boys and leaders in 104,150 Scout units.

The Potomac Council leaders will witness the presentation Friday of the Lorillard Spencer Award to Region III of the Boy Scouts of America.

Potomac Council is a part of Region III, which has won the trophy for the first time for the best overall record of membership growth, including Exploring, for unit registration and for the use of "Boys Life" magazine.

Kenneth K. Bechtel, San Francisco, will present the trophy to J. Frederick Wiese, Coatsville, Pa., and Francis J. Chesterton and Clarence F. Urfer, Philadelphia.
